FIVE CENTS

Freeman Will Head Young G. O. P. Club

Duer, Cameron, Moore Are Delegates to Executive Council

The Narberth Young Republican Club elected new officers Monday night.

They met at the home of Magistrate Otto Duer, 107 N. Narberth av., Narberth.

Those elected were:

Richard Freeman, chairman; John Mulligan, vice chairman; Mrs. Carl Moore, vice-chairman; James Spindler, treasurer; John Eldenberg, recording secretary; Helen Dreher, corresponding secretary.

There was no opposition to the slate.

Members of the Club also selected Carl Moore, Otto Duer and Robert Cameron as delegates to represent their organization on the Executive Council of the Young Republicans of the First Legislative District. The council is made up of about 24 delegate members.

Announcement was made that the Club has sent contributions to the Red Cross and to the annual American Legion fund.

Delegate members of the Executive Council reported that the Council was planning a dinner for later in March.

Services Held For Mrs. Wm. Kirk, Jr.

Narberth Woman Was Charter Member of Presbyterian Church

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon for Mrs. William Kirk, Jr., one of Narberth's oldest residents and a charter member of the Narberth Presbyterian Church.

The services were held at the home, 307 Woodside av., where Mrs. Kirk died early Thursday morning at the age of 86 years. Although Mrs. Kirk had been confined to the house for sometime because of her age it was only Sunday, a week ago, that she became seriously ill.

Mrs. Kirk has lived in the Woodside av. house for 31 years and in Narberth practically all her life. Even when she was a girl and living in Philadelphia, her parents, the late Robert and Margaret Osterhouse, had a summer home in the section that is known now as Penn Valley.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Allan M. Frew, pastor of the Ardmore Presbyterian Church, because of the illness of the Rev. Bryant M. Kirkland, pastor of the Narberth church. Interment was in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Kirk's husband, who for 47 years was in the general manager's office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died ten years ago.

Mrs. Kirk is survived by three sons and three daughters. They are William W. and Allen T. Kirk who live at the Woodside av. address and Allen T. who lives at 101 Elmwood av., Narberth. The daughters are Mrs. William D. Lindsey, Haverford; Mrs. William W. Day, Pompton Lakes, N. J.; and Miss Marguerite H. Kirk, who lives at 307 Woodside av.

Annual Concert At Junior High

Proceeds Will Go To Non-Athletic Fund

Musical organizations of Ardmore Junior High School gave one of their most successful annual concerts on Tuesday and Wednesday night of this week.

The auditorium was filled both nights for the concert. Proceeds will go to the non-athletic activities fund.

Divided into three parts the program opened with selections by the Ardmore Junior High School Band. Soloists in the number "Dancing Tambourine" were Richard Myers, Albert Preston, Millard Dickie, William Winchell, Richard Kern, Lewis Baldwin, Charles Westgate and Richard Fritz and in the number "The Solo Flight" they were Thomas Evans, Samuel Milliken, Albert Smith, George A. Walker, Jr., Thomas Malloy and Donald Rorke.

Conductor of the band was M. Kennard Markley, musical instructor.

Ernest J. Swartz directed the Junior High School Choir in the second part of the program.

Soloists in that part of the program played by the special orchestra were Bernard Hargadon, Robert Barnes and Donald Loken. They played in the selection "The Trumpeter" by Engelmann.

Lower Merion Five Starts Drive For District One Title Tuesday

With the decks cleared for action and a perfect league record behind it, Lower Merion High School starts its assault on its second basketball objective this week.

Originally scheduled to play its first District One game at the Palestra next Tuesday night the Maroon will start its playoff this Saturday night in the Norristown High School gymnasium.

At that time it will meet the winner of the Sellersville-Perkasie and Lower Merion game which was played Thursday night in Abington.

On the same night as Lower Merion's first district clash there will be three other elimination games in progress. On Saturday night Yeadon will be playing Fallstown at Abington; Glen Nor will meet Coatesville at the Villanova College gymnasium in a double header in which Chester and Conshohocken will be the other contestants.

Then, if Lower Merion wins Saturday night the Maroon will play the winner of the Chester-Conshohocken game in the Palestra on the following Tuesday night. On the same night the two other winners will be playing off in a double header.

District One finals will be played

SUBURBAN CONFERENCE SECTION ONE Final Standings

	W.	L.	P.C.
Lower Merion	10	0	1.000
Upper Darby	7	3	.700
Norristown	5	5	.500
Cheltenham	5	5	.500
Abington	2	8	.200
Haverford	1	9	.100

March 13 at the Palestra.

Lower Merion rang down the curtain on its regular season by scoring an impressive 47-18 victory over Norristown at Downs gym last Friday. It was the tenth straight victory for the Maroon in the Section One League, which it had won a week earlier. The Maroon rolled up a 22-10 lead in the first half and completely outclassed the Eagles in every phase of the game.

Most encouraging was the return on Bill Campbell, who had been ineligible for some time because of poor work in his studies. He entered the game as a substitute and tallied 10 points. His height and scoring ability would be invaluable if he's able to conquer his studies in the next few weeks. Grace Heindel and Phil Harman were the other big guns in the attack, accounting for 10 and 12 points, respectively.

Registration Mar. 11 For Instruction in Handling Firearms

Those unable to enroll this week in the free instruction classes being conducted by the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club on the safe handling of firearms will have another opportunity to sign up for this course at 8 p. m., March 11, in the American Legion Hall, Narberth.

This course is open to the general public and includes instruction in the use of high and low power rifles, pistols and shotguns.

In addition to indoor classroom study of the various types of firearms, those taking this course will be given opportunity to practice the actual use of rifles at the rifle range in the Lower Merion High School, Ardmore; to practice pistol shooting at the Lower Merion police pistol range in Penn Valley and shotgun practice on the Club's trap field at the Nash Farm in Narberth.

Magistrate Lownes by the appointment is given the "power" to issue vendors, purchasers and foreman's licenses under the terms of the said act and rules and regulations that now are or may be issued.

Information taken by Magistrate Lownes from applicants is confidential and only open to officials of the Bureau of Mines or the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Magistrate Lownes called attention to regulations which require that licensing agents satisfy themselves as to the reputable character of those applying for licenses. It reads:

"All applicants must show affirmatively, to the satisfaction of the licensing agent, that they are sufficiently reliable and experienced to have the license applied for. Individual applicants who are unknown to the licensing agent must support their applications in this respect by the affidavits of two reputable citizens of the United States."

Magistrate Lownes pointed out, it would be necessary for the owners of quarries and their foremen on Rock Hill rd., between West Manayunk and Cynwyd Estates, to obtain licenses.

The Magistrate said his offices at 16 Anderson av. was open between the hours of 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., during which times such licenses could be obtained.

Kirsch Gives Ten Hints for Auto Tire Conservation

Few motorists need be urged to pay more heed to their tires these days, but all can profit by some driving tips that will increase tire life, says C. H. Kirsch, president of Kirsch Chevrolet Co., Cynwyd.

These "tips" are:

Drive at moderate speeds; start smoothly, anticipate stops and thus avoid violent braking; keep wheels in proper alignment; keep tires inflated to proper pressure; avoid striking curbs; take curves at moderate speeds; vulcanize injured places immediately; don't overload the car or truck, and remove glass, nails, stones and other foreign materials from tires immediately.

Presbyterian Pastor Recuperating At Home

The Rev. Bryant M. Kirkland, pastor of the Narberth Presbyterian Church, is recuperating at his home, 306 South Narberth av., Narberth, following an operation for appendicitis, performed at Abington Memorial Hospital.

This Sunday, Dr. Frederick Loetscher, professor of church history at Princeton Theological Seminary, will preach at morning and evening services at the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Kirkland will return to his pulpit on March 15.

Petitions Are Out For A. R. Waterall

Ask His Election As Republican Committeeman

Petitions are being circulated in Wynnewood for the election in the Spring Primary, May 19, of A. Reginald Waterall as Republican committeeman.

Waterall lives in the Wynnewood Park Apartments and is chairman of the Wynnewood Park Association.

As far as it could be learned the present Republican committeeman Fred C. Chandler, Jr., will not be a candidate for re-election.

Waterall comes from a family that has made its home in Wynnewood since the turn of the century. The old family house was on Penn rd. and Sabine av. and Waterall's aunt, Mrs. Clifford Jones, lives on Penn rd.

Waterall was graduated from Haverford School and attended the University of Pennsylvania. Until 1932 he was in the investment securities business in Philadelphia. Unofficially "Andy" Did Smile

Bill Anderson, who has amassed some kind of a record in the basketball coaching field for his gloom and frowns, broke into a smile yesterday when he heard the news.

A baby boy, weighing eight pounds, was born to his daughter, Mrs. Jeanette Elmer Legg, at Rawley, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Legg named the boy Stephen.

"Gee, that makes me a grand father," said the Lower Merion High School basketball coach with a smile as broad as his exceptional coaching record.

300 Volunteers Being Trained

New Members Are Added to Defense Council

In all defense divisions Narberth now has approximately 300 volunteers undergoing training, according to a statement issued by F. S. Challenger, chairman of the Narberth Council of Defense, this week.

Although Challenger retains the position of chairman of the Defense Council it was announced last week that Richard L. Miller, Burgess, would take over the duties as director of defense. It is under the director of defense that the actual administrative duties of carrying out the defense program falls.

Volunteers, according to Challenger, are still needed for the control center, fire auxiliary force, auxiliary police and air raid work.

Expanded with new members the Defense Council is composed of the following:

Challenger, chairman; H. G. Sparks, vice-chairman; Richard L. Miller, Franklin Hutchinson, Clarence Kaebler, Henry A. Frye, Stuart R. Whitman, Charles F. Gurvin, E. J. Griswold, Clark E. Miller, Joseph L. Kelley, Dr. E. R. Disbrow, Dr. Lanahan, George B. Supple, Eugene A. Davis, Sr., J. L. Minnick, and chief of the Narberth Fire Company when he is selected.

The defense program, according to Challenger, is now in full swing and is carrying forward its work through the following divisions:

Auxiliary fire fighters, auxiliary police, air wardens, emergency medical aid, public works, utilities and vital services.

Thomas W. Merkle, member of the Narberth Borough police, has resigned to accept a position at the Narberth Post Office.

His resignation became effective Tuesday night.

Under the U. S. Civil Control Administration, Merkle will have a rating of 1 at the Post Office.

Merkle's home is at 523 V. wood av., Narberth. He has been on the Borough police for years.

In addition to his police work Merkle has been a first aid instructor for civilian defense volunteers. He is president of the Voluntary Service Corps whose membership is made up of those who have completed first aid instruction courses in Narberth.

Appointment of another member of the five-man police force may necessitate the creation of a Civil Service Commission through which such appointments must be made in Pennsylvania municipalities. Although Lower Merion Township police department exercises a certain degree of supervision over the Narberth force, the police salaries are paid by the Borough. Whether it will be necessary to create such a Commission, according to a recent act of the State Legislature, will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Borough Council.

Roland James Makes Honor Roll at Syracuse University

Roland James, Lower Merion High School graduate, has earned a place on the honor roll or Dean's list at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

James, who played on the Lower Merion football team and was one of the School's star wrestlers, had a rating that was two points higher than the honor roll rating. He is a student in the School of Fine Arts and is majoring in commercial art.

James is the son of Evan L. James, Lower Merion Township manager, who lives at

HEALTH OFFICER URGES DISEASE PREVENTION MEASURES

Importance of taking measures now to prevent disease as part of the Civilian Defense program is stressed in an announcement by Dr. H. W. Hassell, of Bridgeport, State Medical Health officer of District Four (Montgomery and Bucks Counties). Dr. Hassell's announcement:

"This is an all-out war in which we are engaged, a war of extermination in which we can expect all the frightfulness and horror which it is possible for the enemy to inflict upon us.

"Dr. Parran, Surgeon General, has stated that the enemy has planned and in my opinion will use bacteriological warfare where ever possible. This being the case, it behooves us to plan ahead for the protection of our population.

"The statement has been made that, if bombing takes place in the populous areas of New Jersey, 500,000 people will rush across the Delaware River bridges during the night to get into rural areas, which means largely into Bucks and probably Montgomery Counties. Should this occur, and it is highly probable that it will, it will be a tremendous problem to care for these people, not only for food, clothing and shelter, which should be the responsibility of the Red Cross, but just as important are the health problems that would be created, such as the examination of water supplies and milk, proper sewage disposal and, as these people will be crowded together, the prevention of disease, not only in the visitors but our own residents. Plans should be made and carried out at once for prevention of epidemics.

"The time to act is now, not when these conditions arise, when doctors, nurses and hospitals will be overworked, and it may be impossible to properly take care of the work. There are certain diseases that we can expect and can prevent by action now. Among these diseases, typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox should be prevented.

"Typhoid fever and paratyphoid fever can be prevented by three simple injections given one week apart, but the full immunity does not take place for weeks, and it will be too late to get full protection in the presence of an epidemic.

"Diphtheria can be prevented by two injections given four weeks apart. Immunity from the mother carries to about six months, after which the child is liable to contract the disease. All children up to 11 years should be given this protection. The Pennsylvania Department of Health will furnish Diphtheria Toxoid to any physician applying for it. However, it must be emphasized again that this protection is not immediate, but takes several months before becoming effective.

"Smallpox in this state has been controlled by vaccination but all states do not have a compulsory vaccination law, so people coming into this state may bring the disease with them. Children in Pennsylvania must be vaccinated before attending school, but one should not wait until then, when the child is liable to the disease at any time. As it must eventually be done, protection should be secured at once. All children and adults who have not been vaccinated recently should be vaccinated at once.

"These are some of the measures that we can take now. When the bombing comes, it will be too late to be immediately effective. Do not wait. Consult your physician now and be guided by his advice."

County Gets New Park Property

Former Residents Give Land in Memory Of Their Daughter

A tract of nearly four acres of ground, lying along the Pennypack Creek in Upper Merion Township, has been given to Montgomery County for park purposes by the owners, Phily P. Stewart and his wife, Suzanne Stewart, of Newark, Del., former residents of the County.

Title to the ground was accepted, subject to certain conditions, by County Commissioners Fred C. Peters, Foster C. Hillegass and Raymond K. Mensch, by a resolution.

Situated about one mile south of Hatboro and a mile northwest of Bryn Athyn, the tract lies on a rather steep wooded slope on the north side of the Pennypack Creek. The northwest boundary of the property runs about 400 feet along the Davisville rd. One boundary adjoins property owned by the Philadelphia Missionary and Church Extension Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The tract was given to the County by the Stewarts in memory of their deceased daughter, Jacqueline Laura Stewart.

The resolution accepting the ground provides that the tract shall be known as the "Jacqueline Laura Stewart Park" and that it shall be kept in its natural state, as nearly as possible. The County may lay out such roads and paths as it deems necessary for proper utilization of the area and bathing, picnics and certain games will be permitted, at selected places.

68.76% Agree to Mill Creek Pact

Plan Will Preserve Natural Beauties Of Valley

With 68.76 percent of the property owners as signers the Mill Creek Agreement was filed in the Montgomery County recorder of deed's office in Norristown last Saturday and became effective March 1.

The agreement between these property owners, who reside in the Mill Creek Valley, and Lower Merion Township was reached after five years campaigning to bring it about. It took more than 50 percent of the property owners to make it legal. Now the agreement will be perpetuated from generation to generation as a deed restriction.

There are four major provisions of the agreement:

1. The land between Mill Creek and the Creek rd. and land extending up to 100 feet beyond both center lines be left without development or material change from its present character.

2. Within this area, no new buildings will be erected and that walls, fences and hedges therein will be kept low and not obstruct views of natural beauty.

3. Within this area and generally throughout the valley, there will be no wholesale cutting of trees or construction of artificial features that may detract from the natural beauty.

4. The Township, on its part, will use its best efforts to prevent public picnicking or gatherings along the road and creek and generally to deal with the public highway system of the district in such a manner as will preserve the natural beauty of the Mill Creek Valley.

Following is a list of those who signed the agreement:

John Albrecht, Jr., H. B. G. Bettie, by Graceon Bettie, Commissioners of Lower Merion Township; John J. Doherty, William K. Durham and James Irvine, William C. and Anita D. K. Elliott, Henry W. and Edith C. S. Farnum, Thomas, Jr., and Martha B. Fisher, Walter S. and Cassandra S. Franklin, Rodman E. Griscom, C. S. Ashby and Hope C. Henry, Eugene J. and Genevieve C. Houdry, Charles E. and Elizabeth P. Kenworthy, Henry and Lorraine Lindenmeier, Eleanor Morris Lloyd, Charles Townsend and Constance S. C. Ludington, Nicholas S. and Mary Lloyd Macy Ludington, Wright S. Ludington, Seymour DeW. and Mabel Stewart Ludlum, Edward M. Lutz, Merion Square Corporation, Ellingham B. Morris Estate, Walter C. and Hannah M. Elliott Pew, Henry B. Jr., and Gertrude Graham Robb, Francis Harley and Virginia S. Scheetz, Soapstone Farm Corporation, Roy F. and Esther L. Spreter, W. D. Jr., and Barbara Vaughan Watson, J. D. Jr., and Marian L. Winsor.

Women Cooperate in Plan for One Milk Delivery a Day

Not only have milk and other dairy products been delivered before breakfast every day, but the milkman has made a second call during the daylight hours to give the customer convenient opportunity to order any further milk or other dairy products she needs.

The woman in the home has ever been among the first to rise to the occasion and one dairy company reports practically universal cooperation of its customers in helping the government conserve rubber, gasoline, and other vital materials. Immediately after Pearl Harbor, Abbotts Dairies effected measures to help save these essentials. Among the most important was the change to one daily home delivery. They found they could do this easily and quickly, because of the wholehearted cooperation of their customers.

Declared Abbotts Dairies: "With American women so splendidly meeting the emergency in this and many other ways, we can have complete confidence in our ultimate victory."

Thank You for Your Cooperation on Daylight Milk Deliveries

Last December, when our Government asked us to conserve rubber and other vital materials, we immediately took active measures. Through the wholehearted cooperation of our customers, we were able to effect savings of these essentials by making one trip daily to their homes in suburban districts.

Abbotts Dairies and their Driver Salesmen wish to express their sincere appreciation for this splendid patriotic spirit.

To help you avoid possible inconvenience, may we suggest that you order sufficient dairy products to last you until the Abbotts Milkman calls the next day.

CALLING THE TURN

by L. M. FORD

When Lower Merion High School's basketball team starts the defense of its state championship in the District One, P. I. A. A. playoffs next week it had better not take anything for granted. And that goes for the Maroon's enthusiastic following, too.

Basketball's one of the most uncertain of all sports and only one of it might be sufficient to eliminate a team from the playoffs. Lower Merion is under the handicap of never having lost a game in District One. You can't blame everyone for giving little consideration to the district games and concentrating instead on L. M.'s likely opponents in inter-district competition.

But there always has to be a first time and unless everyone's memory is awfully short they'll recall that last first time almost came to pass last year. It frightens us, even now, to recall that Lower Merion came within ten seconds of missing the District One finals, barely coming from behind in time to beat Coatesville in an extra period thriller.

Almost the same Coatesville team is back in the eliminations this year. Chester, Section Two winner, is a vastly improved team over the club which played L. M. early in the season. Jack Hinchey has a Glen-Nor team capable of causing all kinds of trouble and Conshohocken High lost only one game all year. Any one of them is capable of rising up and creating an upset. Lower Merion's first opponent, Sellersville-Perkasie, is an unknown quantity and can't be dismissed with a mere shrug.

We agree with everyone that L. M. should win the District One title for the 11th time, but we don't think it can be done by merely saying "boo" to the opposition. The Andersonmen will have to really hustle and buckle down and play the best basketball they know how. Anything less might not be enough.

Berwick Changes Mind
Remember the rumpus Berwick High School raised a couple years ago when it wasn't granted a postponement of a game with Lower Merion in the P. I. A. A. playoffs?

Rather than play on the night specified by Edmund C. Wicht, executive secretary of the P. I. A. A., Berwick withdrew from the tournament and vowed it would never again compete in the eliminations.

There is a chance Berwick will be eligible this year. The Tanks, as the team is called now, most likely will win the second half title in the Wyoming Valley League and if victorious over Newport, a former state champion which won the first half, will have the right to represent the league in the District Two eliminations.

From all accounts Berwick won't pass up the chance. Recently Elmer Cochran, president of the Berwick school board, was reported as making the following observation on the playoffs: "As far as I am concerned the matter is up to the boys entirely. It's their game and if they want to play, I don't believe we should interfere."

Time and winning teams certainly do work wonders. Perhaps for the sake of cleaning up a bit of unfinished business it would be a break for everyone should Berwick and L. M. be thrown together in the playoffs.

He Can't Believe It!

Independent basketball fans in general have been amazed at Brookline's sensational comeback which has established the Haverford Township team as a strong title contender once again in the Main Line League. But none has been more surprised than Charles E. Harnden of Narberth, president of the league.

Brookline lost three players to the army and another to defense work early in the season and had great difficulty holding its own. After a particularly disastrous game with Narberth, Harnden couldn't resist the temptation to needle Herb Good, blond Brookline manager who has been accustomed to winning teams for years.

"When are you going to get yourself some ball players?" asked Harnden mischievously, "surely you don't call that a team out there?"

"I have all the players I need," replied Good with a grin, "and you'll see a winning team out there before long. We have the best group of youngsters in the league. Give them a chance to get a little more experience and an opportunity to find themselves and you'll be plenty surprised. One decisive victory over a topnotch club may give them the spark to set them off. And when they start going, watch out!"

Good had his opportunity to rib Harnden following two Brookline victories over Narberth more than a month later.

Do you still think we need other players? he asked.

"No, you certainly don't," chuckled Harnden, "I've got to hand it to you. I never thought you'd be up there this year, especially after the way your gang looked early in the season. How do you do it?"

"That's what we're trying to figure out," grinned Good.

Pennsylvania Dutch Used Range
The word range for a certain kind of cook stove was first applied by the Pennsylvania Dutch to the six-plate stove, implying a larger range of space permitted by this particular type of stove than was possible with the four-plate which was previously used.

Waste Sorted At Township Dump For Salvage

Nothing of any salvage value is going to be wasted in Lower Merion Township.

This was emphasized by Evan L. James, Township secretary, who said that everything collected by the Township trash wagons is sorted.

Waste paper, cardboard, discarded metals, bottles, rags and tin cans are all rescued for re-use by the government. Workers at the incinerator bale papers, rags, and cardboard and sort out bottles and metals before the debris is burned. Tin cans are burned out, screened and sold by the Township. Proceeds of the sale help defray the cost of operating the disposal system.

Arctic Bishop At All Saints'

Bishop Fleming Will Conduct Services At Wynnewood Church

The Bishop of the Arctic will conduct services Sunday, March 8, and every evening through Friday, at All Saints Church, Wynnewood.

Bishop Archibald Lang Fleming, also known as the "Flying Bishop" because he has flown more than 40,000 miles in the service of the church in his diocese, extending from the shores of James Bay to the North Pole and from Baffin Land to the Alaskan boundary, ranks as one of the most colorful churchmen of the day.

In accepting the invitation of All Saints Church, Bishop Fleming said he felt "that in these tragic and terrible days of war no effort should be spared to arouse Christian people to a realization of the challenge that comes to them as followers of the Prince of Peace. Too often, it seems to me, the significance of the Christian religion, at such a time as this, is not understood."

His missions are scattered along the Arctic coast and in addition Bishop Fleming has established well equipped hospitals, residential schools and day schools.

Bishop Fleming was born and educated in Scotland, where he spent eight years in the ship-building industry, becoming a naval architect. In 1912 he was ordained and served as a missionary to Baffin Land, where he traveled by sledge, dog team and whale boat, visiting the Eskimo villages and frequently going where no white men had been before. After 1916 he was assigned parochial work and until 1927 was rector of the historic church of St. John at Saint John, New Brunswick. He resigned to become archdeacon of the Arctic, and in 1933 was consecrated a bishop and elected the first Bishop of the Arctic. His people are mostly Eskimos, Indians, fur traders, mounted policemen, and government officials.

Junior Version of Astaire and Rogers

There seems to be no end to the versatility of Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland.

In "Babes in Arms," they acted as end men in a minstrel show. In "Strike Up the Band," they danced the La Conga. And now in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Babes on Broadway," at the Ardmore Theatre this week-end, they do a dance that promises to top any of their combined efforts to date.

They dance a la Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, dancing on table-top and piano-bench, pivoting and tapping through two rooms, and singing while doing it. Mickey, just for good measure, adds a cartwheel, somersaults over a divan and jumps over a table! The youngsters rehearsed the number for only a single day, then recorded and filmed the number in two more days' work.

reference to bearing a "Regular Republican" or "Organization" endorsement. Also, there was no mention of the brewing gubernatorial contest in the Republican ranks.

The first paragraph of Congressman Ditter's statement gave some indication that release of all the candidates' letters in the same week might constitute an "endorsement" or "Organization" slate. It read:

"I am gratified to learn that I have been endorsed by the Republican County Chairman, the Honorable Lloyd H. Wood, and by Republican leaders and workers throughout Montgomery County as the Party's candidate for Congress."

Another significant angle to the release and timing of the letters was that so far no other persons have appeared in the field for these positions.

Plan For Victory Gardens And Instructions On Nutrition

Formation of a Victory Gardens Committee to function in Lower Merion Township was approved Tuesday night by the Council of Defense at its meeting in the Township Building.

This committee will work with the Victory Garden Planning and Coordinating Committee for Montgomery County, of which Harold Graham of Elkins Park is chairman.

Looking forward to an acute shortage of farm labor during the war, local communities are being called upon to help meet the problem. Volunteers, both women and men who are unlikely to be called to the armed forces this Summer, and high school and college boys and girls will be asked to contribute their services.

The local committee will function with the County committee, which is formulating a program of information and instructions on the proper procedure of matters on agriculture, gardening, canning and nutrition to enable the citizens to select the best possible foods for the Defense Program.

The committee will also issue information on staple garden products for which seeds will be easily obtainable, and will caution against the promiscuous use of seeds that are not available.

Fertilizing will be one of the most important matters to be considered in view of a shortage of certain standard forms.

Courses in nutrition in schools will be expanded to meet war needs, and additional courses will be offered through the Victory Garden groups. Several such courses are already being held in this community through the auspices of the American Red Cross and the Emergency Aid.

CLUB TO SEE MOVIE ON FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

The Penn Valley Garden Club will meet March 9 at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. H. O. West, 903 Bryn Mawr av., Penn Valley.

The program will include a moving picture by the Coca Cola Company, based on their second pamphlet on Floral Arrangements.

The Executive Board of the Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank C. Smith, Old Gulph rd., Penn Valley.

Flyer's Letters Read To Women

Letters from Lieutenant Richard Smith to his mother, Mrs. Dorothy C. Sjostrom, 4924 Hazel av., Philadelphia, were read by Mrs. Leon W. Melcher, Conshohocken State rd., Bala-Cynwyd, at a meeting of the Auxiliary of Thomas D. Vandiver Post, American Legion on Monday afternoon.

The story of Mrs. Sjostrom's son, reported in metropolitan papers earlier this week, is one of the more thrilling-than-fiction stories which sometimes turn up in wartime. On February 6, Mrs. Sjostrom received word from the War Department that her son was dead. Last Saturday, she received a cablegram from Australia, signed by her son, saying he was "doing fine."

Mrs. Sjostrom has enlisted the aid of Montgomery County's Congressman, J. William Ditter, in an effort to obtain verification of her son's presence in Australia.

The Vandiver Auxiliary meeting followed a covered dish luncheon at the Post Home.

It was announced that the Auxiliary will again this year give a medal award to the outstanding girl student at Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School, at the end of the present school term, and that the name of the recipient will be inscribed on the plaque donated to the school by the Vandiver Post and Auxiliary last year.

See the Future
Second sight, or "Taisch," as it is expressed in Gaelic, is a Highland superstition that endows certain persons with the power to see future or distant events as the present. Although the visions presumably were involuntary and accompanied by a feeling of dread there are records of rites which were performed for this purpose.

Smart Midseason Dresses Are Dignified and Simply Styled

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There is a new psychology in the matter of dress. It's a most wholesome one which yields to no other more with feminine charm and flattery, but tends toward greater simplicity, careful selection and an appreciative evaluation of wearability. Clothes are made to serve dependably and at the same time graciously, during the stress and strain of the present war period.

It's well-mannered clothes that women are wanting, the sort that won't shrink with glitter and gewgaws, yet will be spirit-lifters in their colorfulness, savvy of line and genuine charm. The winsome little of dresses now so popular give the answer. Not only do they exhibit color but they are styled to meet with all sorts of "catchy" details that individualize them and make them of outstanding style importance, not only for immediate wear but for years to come.

The accompanying group picture eloquently tells the story of quality, materials of distinction and flattering color. The first of this trio, that shown to the left in the above illustration, is a clever sports dress for the teen-age girl. It is in chocolate colored wool pannelled with brown-tinted beige. Simple tailored princess lines enhance this model, together with an easy grace achieved by the full-skirted effect below the hipline.

The dress to the right in the picture above stresses the new 1942 classic simplicity to a nicety. It exhibits the sleek-fitting long-torso lines now so popular with college girls and the junior set. One of the persuasive arguments in favor of the attractive colorful daytime wool frocks is that they are "up to tricks" in the way of ingenious detail. In this instance it is the long at each side of the long-torso bodice that is eye-catching. Self material is laced around gold hooks. This model comes in delectable pastels or in lush colors.

Centered in the group above is a perfect "date" dress for the girl who must wear her "special occasion" dress all day in the office. This gown of leaf green crepe has a striking triple-tiered pleatum, a smartly curved yoke and the somewhat full, straight sleeve favored this season.

Too sweet for words are the dainty little afternoon dresses of light wool or rayon crepe in exquisite pastels. They are fashioned with cunning self-fabric trimming. One has three rows of tiny ruching applied to a medium flare skirt line, three huge hand painted wood buttons and matching ruching about a clever yokeline. Made of China pink crepe it is the ideal answer to the demand for something dressy but not too dressy.

The fuss made by the younger set over white date dresses continues. White jersey seems to be the outstanding material for these dresses. Now that color is so important, many of these jerseys are made gay and bright with embroidered flowers and motifs done in multi-colored yarns. Some of the most attractive white jersey frocks are highlighted with effective tramonto quilted design. Others are made festive with gilt buttons and girdles.

Kodiak Once Cannibal Isle

Some of the earliest settlers on the North American continent—cannibalistic migrants from Siberia who settled Kodiak island—used the skulls of vanquished enemies as drinking cups, according to Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution.

These early-day Americans, Dr. Hrdlicka said, used the skulls of valorous enemies in the belief that some virtues of the deceased might be transferred to them.

He said a study of the skeletons of the islanders showed they apparently were remarkably free from disease. Even fractures were infrequent. Dr. Hrdlicka reported, and evidences of dental decay were missing.

Elizabeth Scott Wed Saturday To H. W. Churchill

Ceremony Performed in Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church Chapel

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Florence Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Scott, of "Four Gables," Wynnewood, to Mr. Hugh Waldemar Churchill, son of Dr. Herman R. Churchill and the late Mrs. Churchill, of Philadelphia, took place Saturday evening in the Chapel of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Rex Stowers Clements, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of heavy ivory satin, with a double-tiered veil, and carried a bouquet of carnations and lilies.

Mrs. Persifor F. Smith, 3d, who was matron of honor, was gowned in fuchsia faille, made on princess lines, and carried flowers to match. Miss Edna Lee Gable, maid of honor, wore a turquoise gown similar to Mrs. Smith's and carried a matching bouquet.

Mrs. Scott, mother of the bride, was gowned in aquamarine marquise and lace.

Mr. Walter R. Churchill, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Persifor F. Smith, 3d, Dr. Ellis Osgood and Mr. Fletcher T. Scott, brother of the bride.

After a reception at the Merion Golf Club, Mr. Churchill and his bride left for a wedding trip through the South.

Penn A. C. Women Plan Luncheon

The women members of the Penn Athletic Club will hold a luncheon and entertainment program on March 10 at 12:30 p. m. in the Rose Garden of the Bellevue-Stratford.

There will be 1100 invitations sent out and the affair will be sponsored by the Women's Hospitality and Entertainment Committee of the Penn Athletic Club of which Mrs. M. E. Murphy is chairman.

Judge Frank Smith, president of the club, will speak on the future of the club.

Thomas C. Shaffer, well-known lecturer, will speak on "Up to the Minute World Events."

A program featuring Victor Herbert music will include Miss E. Gwen Martin of Chestnut Hill accompanied by Mr. Earl Betty. Also on the program will be Miss Frances Schiber, Mrs. Ernestine Bacon Cairns and Mrs. Dorothy Johnstone Baseler, harpist.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Earle Hepburn, Merion 691, or Mrs. Michael E. Murphy, Greenwood 5016.

Mrs. Murphy has announced that the women members of the club will continue their meetings and social gatherings until a permanent club house is established. Mrs. Frank Smith is president of the Women's Executive Board of the Club.

DR. F. P. K. BARKER REPLACES JEFFERIES AS PRESIDENT OF LOWER MERION BOARD

W. I. Simpson Named Head of Highway Committee

Showdown Comes at "Conference"

Completing one of the shortest administrative cycles in its history the Lower Merion Township Board of Commissioners on Wednesday night elected Dr. Frank P. K. Barker of Gladwyne as its new president.

He replaces John H. Jefferies, Jr., General Wayne District commissioner, who resigned after receiving a commission in the United States Navy. Replacing Julius Ziegler, North Ardmore, as president of the Board on January 1, Jefferies held the office only a few days over the two months mark.

Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer Cynwyd, administered the oath of office to Dr. Barker.

With his election, Dr. Barker, who realizes a long cherished ambition, announced the appointment of W. Ivan Simpson, new Merion commissioner, to take over his chairmanship as head of the Township's important highway committee.

The showdown as to who had the votes really came in a "conference" behind closed doors with Herbert V. B. Gallager, Haverford commissioner, seemed to think was necessary. In this "conference" Gallager was nominated by Ziegler and then paired off on a non-voting agreement with the other nominee, Dr. Barker. The vote was eight to two in favor of Dr. Barker.

Then when the doors were opened and a public vote taken as required by law, ten commissioners cast their vote for Dr. Barker and two commissioners, William McConaghy and Ziegler, recorded themselves as not voting.

Dr. Barker is beginning his 16th year as commissioner representing the Gladwyne District. He holds the office of Montgomery County controller and is a dentist with professional offices in the Time Medical Building, North Ardmore.

Dr. Barker was appointed July 21, 1926 to fill a vacancy created by the death of his brother, W. A. L. Barker, who was president of the Board when he died on April 6, 1922. Virtually without opposition he stood for election in 1923, 1927 and 1931.

DR. F. P. K. BARKER

Since he has been a member of the Board Dr. Barker has had experience in municipal matters in serving on practically all Township committees. He holds the enviable record of never having missed a meeting. At one time Dr. Barker was chairman of the building regulations committee and also served as chairman of the special planning committee. He was vice-president of the Board under Ziegler from 1929 to 1939, inclusive. Colonel C. Burton Austin, Rosemont commissioner, will continue as vice-president of the Township Board.

Magistrate J. H. Jones, U.S.N., was present for Wednesday night's session. The only absentee was Samuel E. Evans, Jr., West Bryn Mawr commissioner, who has been in the Army for a number of months but has never resigned. Jefferies' resignation as commissioner of the General Wayne District became effective Thursday. It is now up to the Lower Merion commissioners to name his successor.

Later Hours to Help Defense Workers with Income Tax Forms

To accommodate defense workers U. S. Internal Revenue Department agents handling income tax returns will keep open later hours this year, it was announced yesterday.

Office for the agents was opened Wednesday in the U. S. Post Office at Bryn Mawr. It will remain open until March 16. On every day, except Sunday, the office will be open from 8:30 a. m. until 7 p. m. On the last day March 16 it will be kept open until 9 p. m.

The two agents in charge of the office will be Patrick J. Mullin and Eugene V. Gallager. According to the announcement the night hours have been arranged for defense workers who find it impossible to get there during the day without interrupting their work. The agents will assist such workers in the preparation of their income tax returns.

An agent also will be at the Pennsylvania Company building, Station rd. and Lancaster av., Ardmore, on March 12, 13, 14 and 16 between the hours of 9 to 3 p. m. for the same purpose.

The first presidential wedding to take place in the White House at Washington, D. C., was when Miss Frances Folsom married President Grover Cleveland.

Volunteers Needed For Casualty Posts

Names of 51 First Aid graduates eligible to assist air raid wardens at the 10 sector casualty posts throughout the Township have been referred by the Council of Defense to Dr. J. Howard Cloud, chairman of the Bureau of First Aid, and Dr. Herbert H. Fritz, assistant.

These qualified volunteers will work with the post physicians in case of an emergency.

Although there are now volunteers assigned to each casualty post, there is still urgent need to add many names to the present list. According to the Council of Defense headquarters, Sectors A, D, E, and J have but one qualified, registered worker apiece and must have more.

Auxiliary Police Start Training

Course Includes Police Practice and Use of Firearms

Courses of instruction in police practice and first aid are being given Auxiliary Policemen through Lower Merion Township, and a rifle squad has already been organized with weekly drill. Superintendent of Police Samuel W. Gearhart reported Tuesday night to the Township Council of Defense at its monthly meeting.

According to Gearhart, these auxiliary policemen are being trained and equipped to assist the air raid wardens and enforce blackouts; to guard special posts, such as railroad underpasses and bridges; to perform traffic duties and to serve in other capacities when directed.

Auxiliary units in three posts have been given, and in one post are taking an 18-hour course of instruction in police practice and procedure, including the law of arrest, use of firearms, reporting, traffic and guard duty and handling of bombs.

The approved 20-hour Red Cross First Aid course is being given by instructors from the Police Department in two posts and will be started in the near future in two other posts.

A rifle squad of 24 men has been organized at the John Winthrop Post, American Legion, where a two-hour close order drill is held weekly. A second rifle squad is planned at the Bullock-Sanderson Post. Rifle squads furnish their own rifles, and ammunition has been purchased and received by the Township.

Equipment already received by the auxiliary police, according to Dr. Howard Wayne Smith, executive director of the Council, includes 100 white capes made by the Red Cross, 200 whistles and chains, 1,000 flashlight batteries, 500 note books, 300 helmets, 50 pairs of rubber gloves and 50 pairs of rubber boots. Two hundred raincoats have been ordered. Riot sticks are to be made at the Lower Merion High School when necessary wood and leather straps are received.

A patrolman from the regular force has been assigned for duty at headquarters from midnight to 8 a. m. to handle night air raid alarms.

Receive Equipment For Fire Fighting

One hundred and fifty-three volunteers are now receiving training as auxiliary firemen and much valuable equipment has been received for fire use during the past month, a summary of this branch of defense service reveals.

Equipment received to date, Dr. Howard Wayne Smith, executive director of the Council, reported, includes six auxiliary trailer pumps and equipment for two; 2,000 feet of 2½-inch hose; 20 2½-inch nozzles; 15 adapters; 200 coveralls; suits; two sets of oxygen cutting equipment; two foam generators and 200 pairs of rubber gloves.

Two thousand more feet of hose and 200 helmets have been promised in about 60 days. Twelve heavy duty jacks have been ordered for shipment in about 10 days. The Township is awaiting a priority rating two portable electric floodlights and investigating the source of supply of 25 stirrup pumps.

WANTED. Englishman, twenty-five years old; about five feet eight inches tall, of indifferent build; walks with a little bend forward; pale appearance, red-brown hair, small mustache hardly perceptible; cannot pronounce 'd' properly and does not know any Dutch."

The above is from a poster for an escaped prisoner of war, which appeared in South Africa at the time of the Boer War. The only thing the poster neglected to mention was the name of the Englishman. It was Winston Churchill.

Churchill, who, incidentally, was serving the English as a journalist, not as a soldier, had escaped from a Boer prison. Making his get-away in the coal car of a freight train, he met up with an English colliery manager who hid him in a mine and then helped him to escape to the Portuguese frontier. There he joined the English fighting forces. "If the Boers insist upon treating me as a combatant I might as well be one," he said.

Philip Guedalla tells this story in his fascinating biography of Britain's leader, "Mr. Churchill," which has just been published.

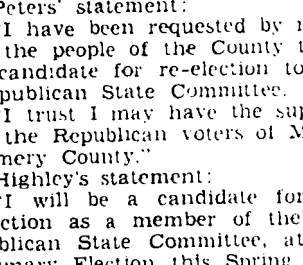

DR. A. J. CRONIN

One hundred and fifty-five literary critics throughout the country, participating in the Book-of-the-Month Club's second annual poll, have selected "Keys of the Kingdom" as the outstanding novel of 1941 and "Berlin Diary" as first in non-fiction.

The ten leading novels chosen by the critics, were: "Keys of the Kingdom," H. M. Pullham, Esquire; "Darkness at Noon," "This Above All," "Windswept," "Storm," "Dellah," "The World of the Thibaults," "The Silent Don," "The Hills Beyond."

The ten leading non-fiction books, were: "Berlin Diary," "Reveille in Washington," "Blood, Sweat and Tears," "Out of the Night," "Black Lamb and Gray Falcon," "Inside Latin America," "Secret History of the American Revolution," "Kabloon," "Newspaper Days," "Mission to Moscow."

The first three books in both the fiction and non-fiction listings were originally Book-of-the-Month Club selections, while of the total of 20, ten were books-of-the-month, according to Henry Seidel Canby, Chairman of the Club's editorial committee. These were, in fiction: "Keys of the Kingdom" (August); "H. M. Pullham, Esquire" (March); "Darkness at Noon" (June); "Storm" (December). In non-fiction: "Berlin Diary" (July); "Reveille in Washington" (September); "Blood, Sweat and Tears" (May); "Out of the Night" (February); "Inside Latin America" (November); "Kabloon" (April).

It seems that Hitler once went to see a seeress and, in order not to be recognized, went in the uniform of a chauffeur. "Ah," said the seeress to the alleged chauffeur, "poor man, you are in a very bad way. The axis of your car will break. You'll get no gas. And your driver's license will be taken away." This story is related in "Athens Palace" by the foreign correspondent, Countess R. G. Wodeck, telling about her experiences in Rumania at the time of the German occupation.

this hope. But now there is a reasonable chance that by the end of 1942 the courageous economy of Governor James will pay off all deficits and that the State will balance its budget. If this hope is fulfilled, then some relief to the heavily burdened taxpayers. When this problem is before the State I would like to help in its solution.

"In response therefore to the cordial assurances of support which I have received from every section of the County, I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the State Senate, subject to the approval of the Republican voters and the Rules of the Party."

"I have been requested by many of the people of the County to be a candidate for re-election to the Republican State Committee."

"I trust I may have the support of the Republican voters of Montgomery County."

Highley's statement: "I will be a candidate for re-election as a member of the Republican State Committee, at the Primary Election this Spring."

"Have served on the State Committee as Assistant Secretary for ten years, and later as an elected member from Montgomery County."

"Have been a member of the Republican County Committee for many years and have had the pleasure of attending as a Delegate, from Montgomery Co., four Republican National Conventions."

"On account of my long service in the Republican Party, I have made a large number of contacts throughout the State and feel I can serve my party in the future as I have in the past."

Wood's statement: "In critical times for the Nation such as these, it is my opinion that the public interest can well be served by returning experienced and proven men to office."

"It is my intention to seek re-election to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania as a Representative from the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County."

"In view of my record and the experience gained from serving two terms in the Legislature, I feel that I am qualified to continue giving the people of Montgomery County the vigorous, intelligent representation by which they are entitled."

Branner's statement: "The time is at hand when nominating petitions are to be placed in circulation by candidates for various state offices, including those to the House of Representatives at Harrisburg."

"The present Legislature is engaged in a Special Session convoked by Governor James. The matters under consideration are vital to the interests of the lives and property of our citizens. The 1943 regular session of the Legislature will consider many more problems of a similar nature. I earnestly believe that experience in legislation gained through past service is most helpful and therefore have decided to place my candidacy before the people of the Second Legislative District of Montgomery County for the Republican nomination to the office of Representative in the General Assembly from this district and sincerely solicit their support not only for the nomination but for my re-election."

Boorse's statement: "In announcing to the Republican Electors of the Third Legislative District of Montgomery County that I am a candidate for re-nomination to the State Legislature from that District at the coming Spring Primary, I do so with full consideration and appreciation of the added responsibility and gravity attending the office in these trying times."

"It is with this responsibility in mind that I pledge to my fellow electors that consideration of National, State and County Defense and Unity shall remain uppermost in any and all matters which I am called upon to review as your Representative."

"I am confident that I join with my colleagues from all Legislative Districts of our County in this expression. Trusting I may have your continued support and with warm personal regards, I am sincerely yours, Howard Boorse."

Winner's statement: Edwin Winner, Willow Grove Business man and resident of Upper Merion Township today announced his candidacy for nomination and re-election on the Regular Republican ticket to the office of Representative in the General Assembly at Harrisburg.

"It is generally understood that Republican leaders throughout the entire Third Legislative District as well as those in the Old York Road area will endorse Mr. Winner's candidacy for nomination and election this year."

Physician at 23
Have you ever heard of a 23-year-old physician? Well, when President Lincoln was shot on night of April 14, 1865, at Ford's theater, Washington, the question was asked: "Is there a doctor in the house?" And the first doctor to respond was Dr. Charles A. Leale, 23 years old. It was Dr. Leal who ordered Lincoln removed immediately to the "nearest bed," which happened to be in a house just across from the theater.

Twenty-two members of the board were present at the dinner which also celebrated the birthday of the pastor, the Rev. Linton R. Menning.

The board is headed by Mr. Menning as chairman; Clayton Roberts is secretary; Walter Murphy is financial secretary, and W. R. Curry is treasurer.

William Carlin acted as toastmaster.

Civilian Defense Review

A Civilian Defense Review to show the citizens of Lower Merion Township what their emergency forces are doing and can do is to be staged some Saturday afternoon in the early Spring. It has been announced by the Council of Defense.

Several plans for the review are being studied with the idea of bringing together the regular and volunteer groups in an active demonstration, either in parade and pageant form or in the handling of "disaster" problems in the various sectors.

Threatens to Punch Real Estate Man; Fined Ten Dollars

Emory A. Mallowan, who writes on horses, tracks and race for a Philadelphia newspaper, was fined $10 and $5 costs on a charge of disorderly conduct by Magistrate Walter B. Lowmes, Jr., Tuesday night at a hearing in the Ardmore police station.

According to the testimony Mallowan went to the real estate office of J. Franklin Moss at 207 City Line av., Merion, on February 18 and threatened to punch his agent, Joseph Roach, in the nose.

Mallowan claimed that Roach had spoken harshly to his wife who was parked diagonally at Old Lancaster rd. and City Line av., on February 17.

Mallowan's wife, Florence, also was fined $5 for illegal parking and $25 costs when she admitted she parked near the intersection for "a moment or two."

Ralph Moss, a member of the real estate firm, testified.

Mallowan lives at 2727 N. 46th st., Philadelphia.

Ardmore Girl Gets High Honor at Randolph-Macon

Miss Katherine Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Black, of Ardmore, a junior at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, has been elected president of the Student Government at the college. It was announced this week.

Miss Black, who served as president of her Freshman class, has been chosen each year during her college course to appear in May Court and has been active in the Y. W. C. A. and the Panhellenic Association. She is a member of Omega secret society, Pi Beta Phi national sorority, Gamma 13, secret society, Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic society, and Am Sun, local secret society comparing to Mortar Board.

She has been on the Dean's List throughout her two and a half years at the college and this year is secretary-treasurer of the Defense Committee and chairman of the Non-Scholastic Activities committee.

Anzacs Like Fighting

Perhaps the most distinctive men of battle engaged in the various European war theaters are the Anzacs, tall, colorful, hard-bitten troops from "down under" who travel half-way around the world just to get in a good fight.

The Anzacs—Australian and New Zealand Army Corps—manage to squeeze into those places where going is roughest. In the last war more than half the cowboy-hatted antipodean troops were wounded or killed.

Again, in the present conflict, the Anzacs find themselves in a difficult sector. They were chosen to drive the Axis troops from Libya. A contingent got as far as Tobruk but were cut off from the main army and holed up for the summer.

They held out for five months until a British force (more Anzacs) slashed their way through the German tanks on the Libyan escarpment and released their buddies from the siege.
